Sir:

Applicant appreciates the courtesies shown to the Applicant's representative by Examiner Dinh in the November 4, 2004 personal interview. A summary of the substance of that personal interview is contained in the following remarks.

During the personal interview, Applicant's representative reviewed the amendments and arguments presented in the October 15 filed Amendment After Final Rejection ("AAFR") After reviewing the AAFR, Examiner Dinh agreed that U.S. Patent No. 5,706,023 to Nagata et al. (Nagata), does not disclose the feature "the counter electrode being of a reference voltage that is unmodulated," as recited in claim 1 and similarly recited in claims 10 and 11, but stated the AAFR raised new issues and indicated Applicant should file an Requested for Continued Examination ("RCE") in order for the AAFR filed on October 15, 2004 to be entered and considered.

The Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned at the telephone number set forth below if further comment is necessary.
